Morningstar ESG Enhanced Indexes Consultation

Morningstar Indexes is considering a methodology change for the Morningstar UK ESG Enhanced Index and Morningstar Developed Europe ex-UK ESG Enhanced Index. These indexes employ an optimization framework powered by the Morningstar Global Equity Risk Model (global risk model). Morningstar Indexes is considering transitioning these indexes to the Developed Europe regional risk model from the global risk model.

This proposal is intended to improve the performance of the optimizer in terms of utilizing the full budget of the ex-ante tracking error targets. This is achieved by delivering less conservative tracking error forecasts, which should reduce the frequency with which the constraints are relaxed to find feasible solutions. This should also allow for greater reduction in the overall portfolio-level ESG risk. A pro forma impact analysis suggests this change would have delivered higher tracking error and turnover to the parent benchmark, relative to the indexes' live records, as summarized here.

These changes would be effective from the June reconstitution on, effective after the close of Friday, June 20, 2025.

We are soliciting client feedback on this proposal.
